

Roof Gardens

What is a roof garden?

- A roof garden is a garden which is placed on the roof of a building. The rooftop garden adds a decorative piece to the roof as well as other benefits. Some other benefits are habitats for wildlife, recreational opportunities, and ability to provide food for the occupants of the building.

Where are roof gardens located?

- Roof of apartment buildings
- Roof of homes
- Roof of office buildings

Why is this useful?

- The roof gardens are a great addition to any building. The gardens are a good use of space especially for areas that do not have much greenspace.
